Detail of Request
Reason for Request

Background

The introduction of the Retail Market Webservice will become an integral part of the Retail Market systems architecture and a key component within many Suppliers sales processes. The webservice will be released as a production version in line with V13 cutover in February 2021.

Bord Gais has previously raised the need for a test webservice environment to enable the test of any changes to design and integration prior to introducing change to their live retail market systems. The gas market provides a web service for GPRN search as well as other webservices. All have both a test and live version to allow Supplier development and enhancement. It would be expected that a similar test environment can be facilitated in the electricity market for market participants.

Proposed Solution

Bord Gais requests that a test webservice is provided for the retail electricity market. This will allow testing of new enhancements aimed at developing the sales process and supporting competition in the retail Electricity market. Bord Gais requests that the test webservice becomes an integral part of the test systems architecture necessary to support the retail market.

The test webservice will be available upon request from RMDS in line with the Assurance Process for the Irish Retail Electricity Market, Section 6.1 Re-Qualification Assurance.

Market Participants wishing to avail of the test webservice outside of a scheduled Market Assurance activity should follow the instructions as set out in Section 6.1 referenced above.
